

Corporate takeover of media is an alarming trend. The present stultifying effect of shallow news coverage already has a deleterious influence on public debate. Lifting the ban on cross ownership of media would further exacerbate the threat to a free and independent press.